A close-up, high-angle shot of a pottery studio. On the right, a pottery wheel is in motion, blurred to show speed. A long, light-colored wooden handle with a rough, bark-like texture lies diagonally across the center. To the left of the handle are two shallow, light-colored bowls filled with various pottery tools, including ribs and scrapers. Above the bowls is a round, porous, brown sponge. The background is a light-colored, slightly textured surface, possibly a workbench or floor.
